

Hungary Accepts UN Visit

Rejects Demand For Observer Team To Investigate The Situation

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Hungarian government today accepted the offer of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to visit Budapest but specified that the visit should be at a later date appropriate for both parties.

At the same time the puppet Communist regime again rejected the demands of the General Assembly for the entry of U. N. observers into Hungary to investigate the situation there.

The position of the government was set forth in a telegram from Acting Foreign Minister Istvan Sebes to Hammarskjöld.

The communication was circulated to delegates at the 79-nation Assembly met to consider a resolution, sponsored by the United States and 13 other countries, pressing once more for the entry of U. N. observers. The resolution noted with deep concern the failure of the Soviet Union to withdraw its troops from Hungary and to cease deporting Hungarian citizens.

The new proposal asked the governments of Hungary and the Soviet Union to communicate with Hammarskjöld by Dec. 7 their consent to receive U. N. observers.

In the communication to the secretary general, Sebes said "The Hungarian government is, as before, of the opinion that the permission for United Nations observers to enter the territory of Hungary would violate the sovereignty of Hungary and would be contrary to the principles of the United Nations Charter."

Then, referring to Hammarskjöld's offer to go to Budapest personally to look the situation over and to arrange for U. N. relief machinery, the acting foreign minister said:

"In order to make it possible for your excellency to conduct direct negotiations with the Hungarian government, the revolutionary workers and peasants government of the Hungarian people's republic is ready to welcome your excellency in Budapest at a later date appropriate for both parties."

The Assembly has approved four resolutions on Hungary since Nov. 4 but the Soviet-installed regime in Budapest has ignored them all. The resolutions included Assembly calls for admission of U. N. observers, withdrawal of Soviet troops and establishment of a U. N. relief organization in Hungary.

Budapest also has not given a definite answer to U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's plea to be permitted to initiate the U. N. relief work.

Hungarian Refugees Arrive in St. Louis To Begin New Lives

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Hungarian national anthem sounded through the vast concourse of Union Station yesterday as eight refugees from Communist terror in Hungary started life anew in St. Louis.

The eight, a family of four and four single men, arrived from Camp Kilmer, N. J.

The refugees and several hundred Hungarian-American greeters wept openly. Hungarian and American flags backgrounded the welcome.

Mayor Raymond R. Tucker greeted the refugees and was told in return by one of the men:

"We are moved by such a reception in America. We hope we can become good American citizens."

A motor cavalcade took the refugees to St. Stephen's Church, where temporary living accommodations awaited them.

Some 200 Hungarian refugees are to be re-located in St. Louis.

W. H. Cloney Dies at Age Of 86 Years

Active in Business Until a Week Ago; Services on Tuesday

William Hughes Cloney, 86, member of one of Pettis County's oldest families and a prominent business man of Sedalia for a number of years, died Sunday morning at Oakdale Farm, north of Sedalia, where he was born May 26, 1870.

He was a son of Abijah Hughes and Mary Elvira Gentry and was reared in Sedalia attending public schools here, later Kemper Military Academy at Booneville, Smith's Academy in St. Louis and Washington University, St. Louis. After his college courses he was employed for a time in a St. Louis bank. Then returning to Sedalia he married Miss Caroline Hindsdale Nov. 14, 1894 and shortly after engaged in the laundry and dry cleaning business.

He was associated with Emil Dorn for a term of years in operation of the Dorn-Cloney Laundry Co., here and later the company opened plants in Columbia, Kansas City and Muskogee, Okla. He was president of the company at the time of death and was active until a week ago although he had for a considerable time limited his work.

Over a period of years he took interest in civic and business affairs and served on numerous boards and committees.

He was the oldest member of the Sedalia Lodge No. 125, B. P. O. Elks, and held membership since he was 22 years old, joining the lodge here in 1893. He was also a Mason.

Surviving are his son, Thomas W. Cloney II, and two granddaughters, Mrs. Robert L. Wesner, Sedalia, and Mrs. Hartley G. Banks Jr., Columbia.

Kerosene Use Causes Fire Fatal to Young Mother, Three Tots

CLAY CENTER, Kan. (AP)—Explosion and fire—resulting from use of kerosene to start a fire—took the lives of a young mother and three of her five children yesterday.

The dead: Mrs. Betty Clark, 27, of Clay Center; her 2-year-old twin sons, Mark and Marvin; and her 1-year-old daughter, Candy.

The other two children were playing outside the little frame house and were not harmed.

Witnesses said they heard a muffled explosion Sunday morning and saw Mrs. Clark run screaming from the house, her clothing ablaze. Floyd Carlisle, a neighbor, smothered the flames with a coat.

Neighbors rushed to the house but found the door had slammed shut and locked behind Mrs. Clark. By the time they could break it down the interior was a mass of fire. Firemen found the children's bodies on a couch near the living room stove.

Report Rebel Clashes

People Display Disgust With Red Paper by Burning Stacks in Streets

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Budapest seethed with reports today of new fighting between Hungarian rebels and the Russian army in the countryside.

The reports were spread mouth to mouth and were heard by Western diplomats. Sizeable bands of guerrilla freedom fighters were said to be battling from forests and hills both in northern and southern Hungary.

Pecs, a center of Hungary's coal and uranium mines, was named as one of the chief redoubts of the rebel holdouts. Communications between Pecs and Budapest were broken.

Some rumors in the capital said shooting heard here yesterday was artillery fire on Hungarian attackers. Another rumor said Russians and Hungarians were fighting in the Buda section of the capital this morning.

(The government controlled Budapest radio explained that the firing was an artillery salute at a burial ceremony for Russian soldiers killed in the rebellion.) None of these reports could be confirmed. Some of them apparently sprang from lack of confidence in the government controlled radio and newspaper.

Budapest people displayed their disgust with the Communist party newspaper, Nepszabadsag, when they burned stacks of the paper in the streets yesterday.

The Budapest population appeared not to have needed calls to new strikes which were made through leaflets last week. Western correspondents visited the Csepel iron and steel works this morning and found chimneys smoking and production going on in haphazard fashion.

"We have to live and we can earn money by merely showing up at the plants," seemed to be the consensus of opinion.

But the populations enmity toward the Soviet-imposed government of Communist Premier Janos Kadar was evidence in many ways. An inscription chalked on the wall of a downtown public laundry read: "None of the Communist party."

Reliable reports reaching Vienna, in Austria, said guerrillas in the Mecsek Mountains and around Lake Balaton were attacking Soviet units nightly. The Russians were said to have sent one of their most energetic commanders to the region to track down the insurgents.

In snow-flecked Budapest, thousands of Hungarians plodded wearily through the cemeteries, trying to identify their dead among the unclaimed bodies from the Soviet-crushed revolt. Hundreds of simple black wooden coffins, their lids open for identification purposes, were scattered about the graveyards.

It's a beautifully illustrated holiday adventure of some amusing and lovable animal characters. A real treat for all readers—especially youngsters!

Artist Rejects Blair Appointment Because He Doesn't Like Hat

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Because he doesn't go for funny hats, artist Thomas Hart Benton has rejected appointment as an honorary colonel of the staff of Governor-elect James T. Blair Jr.

He said he understands the colonels have to buy a uniform with a hat that has feathers on it and he wouldn't want to parade in such headgear.

He likes his job as a colonel in the Confederate Air Force — all he has to do is eat cornbread. And he said he would like to be a colonel for Blair if all he had to do was drink Missouri cider. But funny hats? No, sir!

Instruct Allied Commander To Seek Agreement With UN

LONDON (AP)—Britain and France bowed today to the will of the United Nations and agreed to pull their troops out of the Suez Canal area without delay.

Further, the British told Israel it should get out of the captured Gaza Strip as well as Egypt's Sinai Peninsula and permit the strip to be made a responsibility of the U. N.

In New York, U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld expressed hope the British and French forces will be out and the emergency U. N. police force will have taken command in Port Said by mid-December.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd notified the House of Commons Gen. Sir Charles Keightley, commander of the British-French invasion forces, has been instructed to meet with UN officials to work out a time table for the withdrawal.

"Given good faith on all sides, it can be carried out in a short time," Lloyd said.

In Paris, Foreign Minister Christian Pineau delivered a similar statement to the French National Assembly.

Lloyd's announcement made clear that the invasion failed to achieve what many members of Britain's ruling Conservative party had considered a prime objective: To restore the Suez Canal to international control.

He said Hammarskjöld would soon promote negotiations on the canal's control among representatives of Britain, France and Egypt.

Lloyd told a tense session of the House of Commons the two governments "have instructed the allied commander in chief, Gen. Sir Charles Keightley, to seek agreement with the United Nations commander, Gen. E. L. M. Burns, on a timetable for the complete withdrawal, taking account of the military and practical problems involved."

"The French and British governments have come to the conclusion that withdrawal of their forces in the Port Said area can now be carried out without delay."

Lloyd declared, amid opposition Laborite jeers: "Given good faith on all sides it can be carried out in a short time."

An air of tense waiting lay over the House of Commons, where Lloyd was to make the withdrawal announcement under hard pressure from the United Nations, the United States, some Commonwealth members and a considerable segment of public opinion in Britain.

After Lloyd's speech, the House will have 48 hours to think things over before beginning a two-day foreign policy debate. This will culminate in a vote of confidence Thursday night.

There was a chance — but only a chance — that a revolt among his own parliamentary followers at the crucial point would turn the vote against Eden and force him to resign.

But it was considered more likely that distasteful as the government's policy might be to some right-wing Conservatives, enough of the diehards would close ranks behind the Prime Minister rather than risk defeat by the opposition Labor party in new national elections that would have to be called.

The Conservative rebels looked to Lloyd for assurance on four main points:

1. That the U. N. will let British and French salvage experts help clean up the blocked canal whether Egypt likes it or not.

2. That the reopened canal will be open to all shipping without discrimination, including that of Britain, France and Israel.

3. That the U. N. will sponsor a settlement of the canal controversy which will ensure that sole control is not held by Egypt.

4. That the U. N. Police force is big enough and strong enough to keep the peace after the French and British get out.

Rebel Troops Land on Cuba Coastal Area

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—The Cuban army said rebel troops landed on Cuba's south coast and government forces were advancing on them early today.

It said army planes had strafed an "enemy" band and scattered it, and that the navy had intercepted a yacht off the coast and found baggage believed to belong to Fidel Castro Ruz, a Cuban student leader who has been in exile in Mexico.

A small-scale rebellion began Friday at Santiago de Cuba. Rumors spread through Cuba that Castro had been killed. But the army said it could not confirm that the 30-year-old former Havana student was even in the country. Frequently accused of plotting against the Batista government, he has been living in Mexico City. Mexican officials said Saturday he was still there and under police observation.

(A dispatch to the Miami Herald said government planes bombed and strafed a band of 40 commandos in a sugar field between Manzanillo and Nicaro on the south coast, killing Castro.) ...

Earlier today Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Avila, army general adjutant, said the rebel band landed in Oriente province, north of Santiago de Cuba, under the command of Castro. He did not give the rebel band's strength.

Town's Leaders Tell Confidence In Its Banker

ELLENVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Two hundred community leaders in this Catskill resort say they have "overwhelming confidence and faith" in bachelor banker Bill Rose.

FBI agents seized William Rose Friday night and accused him of juggling $580,000 while he was president of the Home National Bank. They quoted him as saying the money went to two local business firms needing help. He said he made no personal gain.

Rose resigned as bank president the next day.

Last night leaders in Ellenville's civic, political, veterans, fraternal and business groups held a rally to show that Rose is still esteemed.

Everyone present signed a letter to "Bill." The letter expressed "overwhelming confidence and faith" in him and reaffirmed the signers' "unique affection and regard" for him.

In addition, the leaders decided to set up a booth today in Liberty Square in the heart of this town of 5,000. Residents will be asked to sign a petition confirming "faith in the integrity" of Rose.

Rose, 51-year-old former Methodist Church treasurer and naval officer, was charged with violating the Federal Reserve Act by allegedly manipulating $580,000 in bank funds.

He is free on $25,000 bail.

Ulysses S. Ward, 620 North Engineer, has re-entered Veterans Hospital in Kansas City for further examination.

Mary Jean Johnson, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Johnson, Route 2, was dismissed from Children's Mercy Hospital on Nov. 30. She was admitted on Nov. 15.

Considerable damage resulted to a 1955 Ford coach driven by Mrs. Alma Ruth Cripe, 41, La Monte, and a 1954 Ford sedan driven by Herschel L. McCant, 32, of Whiteman Air Force Base, which were in collision on Highway 50, a mile west of Dresden. The accident occurred about 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. Cripe was driving east following the car driven by McCant, who had slowed down on the highway as he approached a location where Trooper Robert Stockdell and Trooper Roy Delham had stopped a truck for investigation.

The front end of the Cripes car was badly damaged, and the rear of McCant's car was slightly damaged.

Mrs. Cripes was taken to Bothwell Hospital by her husband William E. Cripes for medical treatment. She complained of a stomach injury. She was not seriously injured.

She was accompanied by her two daughters, Connie, 16, and Nancy, 10, and by Bobbie Figs, 22, and Bonnie Berry, 20, all of Whiteman AFB. They were not injured.

No injuries were involved in an accident at Tenth and Ohio about 9:48 a.m. Saturday, but damage resulted to vehicles involved.

A 1953 Chevrolet sedan was being driven east on Tenth by Julius Stroh, 904 South Prospect, and a 1953 Plymouth tudor sedan was driven north on Ohio by John R. Houston, 612 South Summit, when the mishap occurred.

The front end of the Chevrolet was damaged and the left side of the Plymouth damaged.

Fires

The Pettis County fire department made two runs Friday afternoon. The first was at 12:20 p.m. to the Dwight Lowery farm, northwest of Hughesville, where a grass fire was in progress. Fire also ran across to the Gerald Smith farm which joins the Lowery farm.

The second alarm was answered at 1:30 p.m. to 18th and Marshall Ave. where another grass fire was out of control on the G. A. Potter and W. A. Green farms. Some $500 damage was reported as a result of the fire. The original cause was believed to be from burning trash.

The fire companies were kept on the jump Sunday answering alarms to grass fires. Four runs being made in little more than an hour's time.

At 12:15 p.m. they were called to Fifth and Limit, where trash and timber had caught fire. A line of hose was laid to extinguish this fire. Ten minutes later they were called to the railroad tracks behind 15th and Ohio, where dry grass and weeds along the right-of-way had caught fire. A half-hour later, at 12:55 p.m., they were called to 2109 East Broadway where grass had caught fire from sparks from a fire in a trash container. At 1:19 p.m. they made a run to 406 North Grand, where grass was burning. Burning grass and weeds at 624 North Washington, at 3:13 p.m. caused another run by the fire companies.

The fire companies at 8:05 a.m. Monday were called to 624 North Washington where dry grass and weeds were burning. At 11:02 a.m. they were called to 1112 South Warren where grass was burning. No loss resulted at either fire.

Sunday afternoon a grass and timber fire east of Otterville, starting shortly after noon, swept through about ten acres on the Frank Henderson farm, two miles east of Otterville, on the south side of Highway 50 and extending south to the Missouri Pacific railway right-of-way. It was a short distance east of Brownfield Roadside Park.

Volunteer firefighters attempted to check the blaze and, being unsuccessful, a call was turned in for the Otterville fire department under Gus Marcum, chief, which made a run to the scene. A fire truck from Syracuse was also called into service, with its crew directed by Lester Miller and Emory Rounton.

Billowing dense smoke swept across Highway 50 when the blaze was at its height but traffic on the highway was unhampered with the exception of being slowed as motorists drove through. The Highway Patrol had a trooper on duty at the scene part of the afternoon.

Backfiring in the wooded area by firemen and volunteers after a few hours combatting the blaze had it under control and by 5:30 p.m. danger of it spreading was eliminated. A moderate wind prevailed at the time, thus lessening the likelihood of its doing any extensive damage other than the burning off of the land and damaging timber.

Police Reports

Police found the east door to the G and G Veterinary Hospital open about 2:45 p.m. Sunday. The door was locked by the officer.

Thieves entered the Adams Implement and Truck Co., Main and Montau, sometime early Sunday and obtained over $25 in money. The robbery was discovered at about 10:30 Sunday morning when a door was found standing open.

Sometime during Saturday night or early Sunday morning the thieves placed a ladder against the building on the west side, and went through an upstairs window. In walking across the ceiling one person fell through the ceiling and dropped about fifteen feet to the floor.

Inside the thieves broke open a gum ball machine and obtained about $1.00, they then broke open two soda pop machines from which they obtained about $25.

They departed through a door which was left standing open.

Three juveniles picked up at Main and Washington at 8:20 p.m. Saturday for acting suspiciously were questioned and later released by the police.

Police were called to 1615 South Lamine where a peeping Tom was reported. Police apprehended a boy and lectured him and then he was released when occupants of the house did not want to prosecute.

An elevator door at the Woolworth Store on South Ohio was found unlocked by the police at 5:30 a.m. Sunday. A check was made but no entry had been made by thieves.

Nine Wreck Victims

cars which was owned by Vaughn and was being pulled out of a ditch, minor cuts on the left leg and under the left chin.

The injured were rushed to Bothwell Hospital in ambulances from Ewing's, McLaughlin's and Gillespie's. They were given treatment by Doctors A. L. Lowe, D. R. Edwards, Donald Proctor, John B. Carlisle, and E. L. Rhodes the latter of Warsaw.

Dr. Robert Stewart, radiologist, was notified and gave the doctors reports on numerous X-rays which were taken of the injured.

Due to the excitement of the hurrying of so many ambulances and wreckers going through Sedalia and out on the highway aroused the curiosity of hundreds and motorists took to the highway following the emergency vehicles.

The highway was blocked at the scene of the wreck and traffic stopped for about three blocks back to the south while the others who came out of Sedalia had cars parked along the highway shoulder as far back as the Anderson School house, nearly a mile back. Leaving their cars many ran to the scene. Luckily they did not block the highway itself and the ambulances were able to get away from the scene and start to town.

The State Troopers who had been called and were out on Highway 50 reported drivers of cars were operating their cars in careless manner, and at one point three cars passed other cars on a yellow line and on the wrong side of the highway at the Flat Creek bridge. Had cars been coming from the opposite direction the oncoming cars wouldn't have had a chance to avoid a collision. Again it was luck the ambulances had not left the scene in time to reach that point.

Knowing the accident was serious the Troopers didn't take time to hand out tickets. At the accident one boy was reprimanded by the Troopers when it appeared as if he might be making an endeavor to pick up a souvenir of the wreck and carry it off.

As soon as the Troopers arrived and a quick check of the accident made, injured removed, Chamberlin's cleared the highway to permit traffic to clear out.

According to the State Patrol, Vaughn had just pulled his 1951 Ford car from a ditch on the west side of the highway where it went sometime earlier in the evening. The pickup was hooked to the front of the truck, which backed up to pull it out on the highway shoulder.

It was reported the first car involved in the collision was the 1951 Ford tudor sedan driven by Krause, which struck the truck headon first and also collided with the Vaughn Ford, which had been jerked to the highway.

The 1955 tudor sedan driven by Loveland was close behind and crashed into the Vaughn Ford and truck, then veered and hit the back end of the Krause car, knocking it on southward. The Loveland car swerved crosswise on the highway, throwing some of the occupants from the vehicle. The truck was knocked south and over on the west shoulder.

All three passenger cars were demolished and the truck extensively damaged.

All of the vehicles were towed to Sedalia by Chamberlin's wreckers.

The accident was investigated by State Troopers Robert Stockdell and Trooper Richard Joos.

ed to appear in court and his cash bond of $35 was ordered forfeited.

Clayton Benjamin Hood, 39, Clinton, Mo., charged with driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating beverage failed to appear in police court and his $75 cash bond was ordered forfeited by Judge Morris.

He was arrested at Seventh and Vermont Saturday night.

Render, organist of his church, to write the tune. Render was born in 1831 and died in 1905.

The second hymn selected was "O, Come Emmanuel" the text by ancient Latin Antiphons, ninth century tune, Gregorian Plain. The song was arranged by Thomas Kelmore.

Moderation Versus Extremes

Man is a rebellious sort of creature with a tendency to resist advice for no other good reason than it was given by one of his friends.

Some advice is good, some bad, some between both and much given by persons who have axes to grind and are looking for someone to help turn the grindstone.

We appreciate the position of Dr. W. W. Bauer, editor of Today's Health, a magazine published by the American Medical Association, who says that people write in demanding all-out crusades against alleged evils running the gamut from alcohol to candy. And we wish more people would write in to us like the Windsor fellow who read our editorial about how legislators can help the University of Missouri. Says he: "Legislators can help Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg, too. Sedalia has more students there than at M. U.—and needs help a lot worse."

And so we agree, no less than when we said in the same editorial that "educational institutions are beneficial to the whole community of Missouri, so where the institutions are presently located does not matter. They must not be allowed to become decadent."

But we're just a bit off the track. Returning to what Dr. Bauer said: "We are learning with painful slowness that health . . . cannot be bought with money alone. It requires exertion to acquire knowledge, and motivation to do the right things in the appropriate manner. . . . Health does not depend on diet, exercise, rest, recreation or upon any other single factor. All of these factors are operative in a balanced whole. . . . Many people are overzealous in the cause of better health. They tend toward fadism, extremism and emphasis on minor factors, losing sight of balance and proportion of the whole . . . All these conflicting interests and pressures must be reconciled in the effort to carry out a balanced, sane, progressive and at the same time conservative, program in health education."

One concludes the pursuit of good health, just the same as our constitutional right to pursue happiness, requires the application of old-fashioned horse sense.

You can't have either unless you practice moderation in all things, a recommendation as old as Confucius, and one which naturally suggests an intelligent avoidance of extremes.

For those who will heed advice, then, and play safe on the health question — be sure to undergo periodic medical checkups.

A Basic Disadvantage—

US Youngsters Think Scientists 'Odd'

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Do you think there's something wicked about scientists?

No? Well, some of our kids do. More than one high school kid out of 10, in fact.

Do you think scientists would throw you to the wolves if it was in their own self-interest?

More than one out of four high school students seems to think so.

And then we wonder why Russia turns out more scientists each year than we do.

This is a problem that has been getting attention from the top levels of government lately. Since, according to the best available figures:

The Soviet Union produced 120,000 specialists in this field today. This country has 750,000, more or less.

Who's winning the long-term race? Just look at the figures.

And you might recall that this is the age when wars, if there have to be wars, are won on drafting boards rather than on battlefields.

So: The Russians coax or club their kids into knowing how to design new weapons.

A trade organization called the Aircraft Industries of America soon will make public a survey suggesting — if you will permit a note of grim humor — that our young'uns are growing up with more interest in the slide trombone than in the slide rules.

This survey, conducted by Purdue University, covered 15,000 high schoolers. Its main conclusions:

"Forty-five per cent believe their school background is too poor to permit them to choose science as a career."

"Thirty-five per cent believe that it is necessary to be a genius to become a good scientist."

"Thirty per cent believe that one cannot raise a normal family and be a scientist at the same time."

"Twenty-eight per cent do not believe scientists have time to enjoy life."

"Twenty-seven per cent think that scientists are willing to sacrifice the welfare of others to further their own interests."

"Twenty-five per cent think scientists as a group are more than a little 'odd.'"

"Fourteen per cent think there is something 'evil' about scientists."

"Nine per cent believe that you cannot be a scientist and be honest."

Makes you wonder, almost, whether we haven't slid back into the dark ages.

The Mature Parent—

You Can Overcome Qualms About Sex Explanations

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

Before Alan's sister was born, his mother told him the facts of birth.

Two years later his pretty, pregnant Aunt Lisa came for a visit. Told her news, Alan was at first delighted with the prospect of acquiring a cousin. Then he became alarmed lest it be another girl. At dinner he asked for reassurance. Turning to Aunt Lisa, he said, "Did you swallow a girl seed or a boy seed to grow this baby?"

Later, his parents admitted their obligation to instruct him in what sex education pamphlets call the "male role in conception." But they didn't admit their reluctance to instruct him. They were terribly ashamed of it, sure that it made them nasty-minded people with guilt complexes about sex. So Alan's mother said, "I think it should come from you" and his father said, "Who? Me? You're his mother, aren't you?"

Their reluctance derives not from guilt but from frustration. If they'll start approving the frustration instead of condemning it, they will soon outgrow it.

It's to be approved because it is natural. Alan's parents are actively in love with one another. It is frustrating for them to feel obliged to explain adult sex activity to their six-year-old son because this activity has emotional meaning for them it doesn't have for the son. It offends them to have to disentangle it from the intense feeling they associate with it. In a very real way, sex instruction of their son means a kind of disloyalty to each other.

I think that parents' shyness in giving sex instruction to children is sometimes due, not to Puritanical recoil, but to kind of conflict between loyalty to adult feeling and loyalty to the child.

Let's remember that the professional people who think sex instruction should be very simple for us have been specially trained for remote scientific interest in human behavior. When they speak of "sex activity," they are seldom thinking about their own.

We are. When a child wants it explained, we respond out of memory of our own, not out of our memory of other people's case records. And we may rush instinctively to protect the privacy of our personal experience in it.

If we accept this hyness as good and natural, so will the child. He'll wait comfortably until we have overcome it. How soon we overcome it depends on how soon we stop condemning our shyness as bad and Puritanical.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D.

Tradition is a strange thing. As moderns we do not want to be tied to the past. Yet, day by day we act in accord with the way our ancestors acted. There was much of value in yesterday. We translate past practice into current action.

Much of yesterday is as new as the morning. We must constantly determine the portion of tradition which meets the needs of the present. Everyone must meet today's situations with up-to-date procedures. And this may be based on tradition or a new approach.

God stands up under the acid test of both tradition and the new. He has yet to be outdated. He is way ahead of human thought and mortal need. We must apply the Eternal to the present.

Ike-Dulles Work on New Foreign Policy

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The most sweeping review of American foreign policy since the end of the war is under way this weekend in the private presidential cottage which Ike's friends built for him just off the golf course at Augusta, Ga.

There the President and John Foster Dulles are drafting the main points on what may be a historic new policy which will reassert American leadership throughout the world. The Secretary of State has been working on this while resting at Key West, has talked with Ike several times over the telephone so as to coordinate their work.

Meanwhile, other foreign policy advisers, chiefly the National Security Council and Vice President Nixon, have been working on the same problem in Washington.

The basic issue facing the President and his administration for some time has been whether to cut loose from our traditional allies, France and England, and line up with the African-Asiatic nations once colonies of France and England.

On this Mr. Eisenhower has faced an important cleavage in his administration.

Potent Young Policy Makers

The Afro-Asian advisers are led by Vice President Nixon with support from UN Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

During his trips through Asia, Nixon has become more and more sold on the neutralist bloc, despite their flirtations with Moscow and despite their desire to stay aloof from USA-USSR rivalry. This is a new approach for Nixon. When he ran for the Senate in 1950 his campaign got heavy support from the China lobby and relatives of Chiang Kai-shek.

In New York, meanwhile, Ambassador Lodge has been siding more and more with the Afro-Asian bloc. He has lined up U.S. votes on the side of Arabs and the Nehru neutralists whom we once criticized so bitterly during the Indo-chino negotiations in Geneva.

During Dulles' illness these two young policy makers, Nixon and Lodge, have been in a position to have their own way. Though absent, however, Dulles has agreed with them. Iked at the French and British for attacking Suez, he probably would have gone just as far, if not further than Nixon and Lodge.

The pro-French and British group includes advisers in the State Department and the National Security Council who hate to see any break with our traditional allies. Actually the chief leader of this group is Eisenhower himself. His friendship with the British goes back to war days when he ruled that a British officer should have a position opposite every American officer in order to promote complete Anglo-British cooperation. His London Guild Hall speech was greeted as one of the great classics in outlining Anglo-American friendship. After the war he was presented with part of the Culzean Castle in Scotland as a gift of the Scottish people.

Secret Talks With Nehru

While these policy discussions were in progress, the Nixon-Lodge policy of Asia cooperation actually has been put to a test during secret talks with Prime Minister Nehru in India. These have been taking place through the Indian embassy in Washington, the American embassy in New Delhi, and the United Nations in New York.

Result of these talks was a secret agreement that the United States would support the speedy withdrawal of British, French and Israeli troops from Egyptian soil. In return, Nehru agreed to denounce Russia for the Hungarian blood-bath. Nehru also agreed that western investments must be protected in the Middle East.

A by-product of these secret talks was Nehru's hurry-up invitation to come to Washington. His visit had been canceled after Ike's illness last June, and Nehru was reported miffed when the President chose to take on the strenuous trip to Panama instead of a much less strenuous scheduled talk with Nehru in Washington.

During the recent conversations, some of the messages to Nehru came personally from Ike himself, and the Indian prime minister is reported much happier.

Red China Relations

One point discussed in these secret Nehru conversations which did not lead to agreement was on Red China. The Indian prime minister wants Communist China admitted to the United Nations and said so. He argued that China had sided with Yugoslavia in opposing the Kremlin's blood-bath in Hungary. He urged that the Chinese Communists are nationalists who may become just as independent of Moscow as Tito. This is the position long held by Dean Acheson as Truman's Secretary of State, and the Eisenhower administration didn't buy it from Nehru. They did, however, express sympathy, and promised to work out better relations with Red China.

This may be one reason for the more friendly statements by Chou En-lai last week that he expects improved relations with the United States.

What will come out of all these backstage, high-level discussions, plus the Dulles-Eisenhower talk at Augusta, will probably be a speech on foreign policy more important than anything the President has delivered during his four years in office. It will probably give lip service to traditional ties with England and France, but pave the way for much more cooperation with Asia and Africa.

Note—The appointment of a Democrat, Ellsworth Bunker, as Eisenhower's new ambassador to India was a move toward getting Democratic cooperation in case political opposition develops to any close alignment with the Afro-Asian bloc. Bunker not merely served under the Truman administration as ambassador to Argentina and Italy, he is also a long-time friend of Dean Acheson dating back to their days in Yale. He is a firm believer in Acheson policies.

'The Sporting Thing'

The shock waves created by Russia's bloody purge in Hungary have traveled all the way to Australia and the air around Olympic Village quivers with dissension.

Hungarians ripped down the Hungarian Communist flag because it bears the hated Soviet hammer-and-sickle device. Switzerland withdrew its team because Russia is a competitor in the contests. Upon pleas of the disappointed athletes this decision was reversed. But the Swiss gymnasts held firm and boycotted the games. Angry words were exchanged when the Australian track and field coach criticized the Americans for "too late arrival."

Contemplating this atmosphere of antagonism at the games, it is ironical to recall that the Olympiad was organized in 1896 to foster international good will and sportsmanship.

Oh, well. Other times, other manners.

Guest Editorial—

MILWAUKEE JOURNAL: Honey Bee and The Dictator. Brazilian experiments show that bees of the northern hemisphere become confused and frustrated when they are taken across the equator to the southern hemisphere.

Experiments have shown that bees have a mechanism that enables them to go unerringly to feeding grounds. They fix their course by the position of the sun. A sort of timing device compensates for the movement of the sun keeping their "fix" constant.

In the northern hemisphere the sun moves clockwise. In the southern hemisphere it moves as the British put it, "anti-clockwise." A northern bee can't compensate for this counterclockwise movement and is constantly lost in the southern hemisphere. He flies off in the opposite direction to where he wants to go.

Wonder if this condition has human application? There are few leaders over the world who speak more movingly of democracy and freedom than Latin American leaders. Yet there are few areas with more dictators. Could it be that politicians, like bees, take their "fix" on the sun and get all mixed up in the southern hemisphere.

Americans Better Behaved On Their European Travels

By Douglas Larsen
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—American tourists abroad have become better behaved.

The report comes from men who should know best, too. They are the 600 delegates to the recent meeting here of the International Hotel Association.

It is the consensus of the hotel officials from 34 countries that Americans are fast learning the customs of countries in which they travel and the techniques of graceful touring. But it is also their belief that reports of wild spending, boisterousness and arrogance of American tourists over the past years have been grossly exaggerated.

"It's kind of an international fad to beat Americans over the head for everything they do," explains a Swiss hotel manager, "but the fact is Americans have always been friendly and understanding and less difficult to handle than guests from many other countries."

All of the European hotel executives share the same opinion, including those from France where Americans are allegedly in most ill-repute.

Over-tipping has been one of the consistent charges made against American tourists. But the past season in Europe and other places Americans have adopted what has become the international standard for a tip. That's 15 per cent of the bill.

"I don't care where you are, what service you're getting or how rich you are, if you give 15 per cent you'll get a polite thank you," says Laurence Henton, director of the Millstone Hotel in London and a pretty experienced traveler himself.

There are some complications to this 15 per cent rule, it turns out. In Germany and Belgium, for example, it is the custom of restaurants to add a 10 per cent tip to the bill before you get it.

"In that case it's still an accepted practice to give the waiter an additional 15 per cent tip," claims Hanns Kilian, manager of an exclusive lodge in the German Bavarian Alps.

"I know that adds up to a 26 per cent tip," Kilian admits, "but most people have come to accept it."

Kilian was a German Olympic bob-sled champ three years and the associations he had with U.S. athletes makes him an even more ardent defender of the American tourist than the other international innkeepers.

"American tourists have more money than most tourists from other countries and that makes everyone sort of jealous of them," he claims. "But all Americans want is to be friendly and have fun with their money and there's nothing bad about that."

"As a matter of fact," he claims, "people from other countries are just beginning to learn how to have fun from the Americans, and are beginning to copy their habits and customs."

Before the foreign hotelmen arrived here for their meeting most of them spent several weeks visiting hotels all over the U.S. They are amazed at the size and efficiency of the typical American hotel. But they also think that there's a certain lack of warmth and personal attention which the average guest finds in a European hotel.

"Employees in U.S. hotels have been taught how to memorize the name of a guest a few hours after he has registered," says Henton, "but it's all pretty businesslike and the guest doesn't have the homey feeling he gets in Europe."

"Americans go to a hotel to get away from a homey feeling," Kilian says in defense of U. S. efficiency.

The automatic serving of ice water at every meal is the strangest U. S. custom the foreigners find. It's the only one that Kilian does not defend.

"I tell my guests in Germany that ice water puts flies in your stomach," he says.

The foreign hotelmen also agree that hotels and restaurants serve too much at each meal. "If you ate everything put before you you'd be unable to leave the table," an Italian hotel manager claims.

A WELL KNOWN Service Station operator in Sedalia recently made a trip to Texas to visit relatives. He took the new Oklahoma super-highway to make his trip in a hurry.

Traveling along enjoying the new pavement, the scenery and the easy riding become such he forgot one thing. He forgot to put gasoline in the tank of this car before getting on the highway and failed to take advantage of service stops along it.

Just two miles from the end—you guessed it — he ran out of gasoline.

His wife sat in the car while hubby "thumbed a ride" to get gasoline. She imagined it would be a several hour wait, but the mood she was in was one that caused the husband to get a quick ride back and he said he was on the way again in just 20 minutes. The rest of the trip the tank got hardly half empty before he "filled 'er up" again.

Corn Growers Will Cast Vote On 1957 Acreage Allotment

Choice Between Acre Allotment, Soil Bank Base

Whether or not growers in commercial corn counties want to use acreage allotments in growing their 1957 and later crops will be decided in the referendum to be held on Dec. 11.

Up until the time that Congress enacted Soil Bank legislation, an acreage allotment was determined for the commercial corn area each year except in time of emergency. Compliance with the farm acreage allotment for corn was required in order to qualify for corn price support.

For 1956, however, producers in commercial corn counties could qualify for the full price support either by complying with the farm corn acreage allotment or with Soil Bank corn base acreage requirements.

The vote on Dec. 11, will present two choices — whether growers would rather use allotments or Soil Bank corn base acreages in growing their crop and qualifying for price support.

If more than one-third of the votes approve corn acreage allotments, the following program will be in effect:

1. The national acreage allotment for the 894 commercial corn counties will be 37,238,889 acres for 1957; and

2. Price support to growers who comply with their farm's corn allotment will be available at a national average of $1.36 a bushel for the 1957 crop, and at a level between 75 and 90 per cent of parity for future-year crops, according to the supply.

If at least two-thirds of the voters approve the use of corn base acreages, the national acreage for apportionment to commercial corn growers in 1957 and later years will be 51 million acres. Price support will be available at an average of $1.31 a bushel for 1957, and growers must put an acreage equal to 15 per cent of their corn base acreage in the Soil Bank in order to qualify for price support.

The vote on Dec. 11 will be for three years—1957 through 1959. If the corn base program is voted, corn will cease to be a basic commodity, as basic crops must be supported at 75 to 90 per cent of parity.

The 51,000,000 acre figure will hold if voted, but the 37,238,889 acre figure will probably vary in the next two years, as will the two support prices, $1.31 in the corn base program and $1.36 in the corn alternate program.

The outcome of the corn referendum will not affect eligibility to participate in the soil bank. Any farmer with a corn allotment or with a soil bank corn base acreage for his farm can take part in the acreage reserve for corn. Nearly all farmers can take part in the conservation reserve program. To be eligible for payments under the soil bank, a producer in general must comply with his corn base acreage and all acreage allotments for his farm.

Dry Weather Has Made Necessary Grain Dressing

Extension soils specialists at the Missouri College of Agriculture say dry weather has made it more important than ever that small grains be top dressed with nitrogen this fall. Normally, wheat and barley are up and off to a good start at this time of year. Drought this fall delayed sprouting and, in many areas, these crops are just getting out of the ground.

According to the soils men, these young plants need all the root and top growth possible before going into winter. Nitrogen applied now will speed up growth and give maximum development before cold weather sets in. They believe that with crops at least a month late, top dressing now could mean the difference between a good crop and a poor one.

Many farmers normally wait until spring to top dress fall-seeded grains. However, experimental out that if you had planned to top results show that fall applications of nitrogen are as good as spring treatments. The specialists point dress next spring, you may profit by changing your plans and top dressing now.

Agriculture Professor Is Named Chairman Of Two Committees

J. H. Longwell, dean of the Missouri College of Agriculture, was elected chairman of two important committees at a recent meeting of the American Association of Land-Grant Colleges and State Universities.

Longwell was made chairman of a national organization and policy committee representing the experiment stations in 48 states. He was also elected chairman of the Division of Agriculture for the Association.

Prepare for New Year—

Income Tax Filing Is Good Time for Farmers to Revue

How will you farm in '57. A good place to start thinking about '57 is by looking carefully at how you farmed in 1956. You have a ready-made opportunity to do this when you file your income tax. This is an unexcused task but it's possible to turn the time spent this way into dollars of added income in 1957. You can see where the money came from and what your costs were. In addition you can review the business in general—what succeeded best, what worked poorly, and why. This information can be put to work in 1957.

Once this is done, why not use the winter days to advantage by laying out your 1957 plan of operation while your study of last year's business is still fresh in your mind.

The process can be made easier if you will get a copy of the Annual Planning Form from your county agent. The form itself is simple. There is a place for an outline map of your land. You can indicate each field and what you expect to do there. A pasture balance is provided so you can check to see if there will be adequate grazing through the year.

New Dwarf Detection Is Successful

A dwarfism research report was given recently in Chicago by a Missouri University staff member. The report is optimistic about lessening the problem of dwarf calves in beef cattle. A relatively simple and inexpensive test designed to detect cows responsible for dwarf calves is proving successful under practical conditions. On-the-farm trials have upheld original experimental results secured from tests with University herds. The test was first announced in mid-summer.

The test is a result of research conducted by a team of four University graduate students under the guidance of John Lasley and D. T. Mayer, both of the Agricultural College faculty. One of the graduate students, Bill Foley, of Goodman, gave the report at Chicago.

Using this test, the Missouri researchers found significant differences between known carrier cows and pedigree clean cows. A known carrier cow is one that has produced a dwarf calf, and a clean cow is one whose pedigree is free of the dwarf stigma.

The test uses insulin injections as a means of putting animals under stress. These injections have brought about a strong and swift increase in number of white blood cells in the blood stream of pedigree-clean animals. Reaction in animals known to have produced a dwarf calf has been slower and weaker.

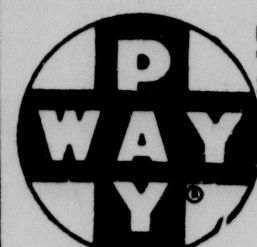

The Missouri group is optimistic about possibilities of the test. It's the first method that has been developed to test mature as well as young animals. Both Hereford and Angus breeders have offered the use of their herds and facilities to conduct additional research.

Even though convinced of the usefulness of the test, the Missouri workers want to do some additional testing before making recommendations for general use of the test.

Level Output Of Milk Big Dairy Problem

By O. E. Allen, MU Extension Dairy Marketing Specialist

Seasonal production is one of the biggest problems confronting Missouri dairymen today. Dairymen producing milk for sale should realize that consumption of milk is very even — not much variation from day to day.

Some dairymen just produce milk — usually too much in the spring and early summer and not enough in fall and winter. Price is bound to be lower when the market is flooded in spring and early summer than it is in fall and winter.

If dairymen could produce about the same amount of milk for fluid market use every month of the year, they would receive more actual dollars for the same annual production than they now receive by over-supplying the market in spring and early summer and under-supplying the market in fall and winter.

In periods of over-supply, all the production cannot be consumed as fluid milk. The surplus goes

Much Help Needed on Brucellosis

To date practically everyone interviewed has been interested in getting Pettis County set up as a Modified Certified Brucellosis Free County. However, many dairymen have said "I already have my house in order, get the beef cattle men to help you," when we ask them to carry petitions.

Two points come up there. You need the signatures of all cattle-men, both dairy and beef to get a mandatory test made of all herds. Second, the only way to make it so dairy herds can stay clean is to help other herds to get cleaned up and by keeping diseased stock out of the county.

If and when Pettis County is set up on a Modified Certified Brucellosis Free basis, cattle cannot move into the county from an unclean area without a clean test within 30 days.

Why Buy Unknown Seed?

A farmer called me the other day about some strangers offering a certified oat from a northern state for sale at an exorbitant price. He went on to say he had just read in a farm magazine about similar activities. He wasn't interested in the seed but he wanted into manufactured products which means lower prices.

This means lower returns to the dairy farmer and is one of the reasons he does not receive more of the consumer's dollar.

To produce too much of anything seasonally means a lower average price for the total production. Orderly marketing is important to every producer no matter what he is producing.

Even production every month can mean orderly marketing, even distribution of work, greater regularity of income, more gross return, more net return, and more even use of equipment.

ed to let me know what was going on and I appreciated it.

First thing, we have field crop specialists who know of these varieties in other states. In fact the different experiment stations send samples to other stations to be tried out. Farmers might like to do some experimenting on their own with a bushel or two, but if they buy large quantities of such seed they have no one to blame but themselves.

I did call the field crops department about this variety which is stiff-strawed but later than our Missouri 205's. According to its behavior at Columbia, our 205's will outyield it ten bushels per acre in a normal year because of its lateness.

Can We Cut Production Costs?

duction and lower cost per unit, according to Nance.

Another circular has come to my desk from the United States Department of Agriculture. Its title is "The Price of Milk." With the county dairy meeting coming up Dec. 12, we might take a minute to check this circular.

In it they mention that with a quart of milk selling for 22½ cents the marketing charges total 12¼ cents. This amounts to the dairyman getting only 45 cents of the consumer's dollar.

This does not mean that the dairyman gets any less for his milk but that services are being added that may mean more milk will be sold. With the surplus we have our best bet may be to come back to Nance' bulletin and increase income by cutting cost of production.

Some ways to do that will be covered at the county dairy meeting Dec. 12, including controlling

Forecasters Say Egg Prices Are at Peak

Forecasters say egg prices have probably reached their peak for the current marketing season. As colder weather comes on, more of the eggs will be of high quality. This means higher prices for current receipt eggs and somewhat lower prices for grade A eggs. The economists expect the extra wide spread between the price of current receipt and grade A eggs that occurred early this fall to narrow rapidly from now till December.

Although current receipt prices will go up during the rest of the year, they are not expected to reach last year's level of 37 cents in December.

Warsaw Tops Stover 42-35 In Cage Tilt

Warsaw High slipped past Stover for a 42-35 basketball victory Saturday in what could be observed as a slow moving but meticulously played game on the Stover court. It was Warsaw's fifth win of the season and second in two days, having humbled Houstonia 65-54 Friday night.

A confident Stover squad thrust into the lead during the first quarter, 13-8, but was trimmed to a 20-19 lead at the halfway mark. Warsaw spirit soared when the visitors took the floor in the third period as the Benton Countians pushed ahead with a 19-7 performance for a 38-27 edge after three quarters. Then with a comfortable lead, Warsaw managed to curb a late 8-4 Stover rally in the final period to secure the win.

Hedrick spearheaded Warsaw's attack with a 15-point showing, followed by Stover's Spurlock who counted 11 points.

Fight Winner Overcomes Big Handicap

MELBOURNE — Pete Rademacher, the big Army lieutenant from Grandview, Wash., whose first-round knockout of Russian heavyweight Lev Moukhine provided one of the big thrills of the Olympic boxing finals, was told by doctors a few weeks ago to forget about fighting.

After competing in the Olympic trials in the United States, the 28-year-old heavyweight developed a blood clot in his right bicep. "In the hospital, the doctors told me to forget about the Games," he said. "They said I would have to lay off at least six months. But my arm improved and I decided to give it a go."

There is no doubt about the individual standouts of the Games. The honors go to Texas Bobby Morrow, the first sprinter since Jesse Owens in 1936 to win three gold medals; Vladimir Kouts, Russia's double winner (5,000 and 10,000 meter runs); and Betty Cuthbert, Australia's 18-year-old whiz, winner of three women's sprint medals.

Pretty Paula Jean Myers of Glendora, Calif., hopes to beat reigning queen Pat McCormick in the platform diving event Thursday by outshining her in her own specialties.

"In the free diving phase of the competition, Pat and I have chosen exactly the same dives," Paula Jean said. "I know that to beat her, I must be much better on every dive because in a close contest the vote always goes to the champion. But I think my chances are good."

PawnPawshop Clerk Shoots Thief in Dark

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — A holdup man, fleeing from a pawn shop with $227 in cash was shot to death by a man who learned how during World War II.

A. R. (Al) Stevens, 45-year-old ex-GI who clerks in the pawn shop told police he was an army sniper and learned how to shoot in the dark at Anzio, Italy.

Stevens felled the bandit, William George Bayes, 35, of Charleston, in a dark alley. Stevens said he shot in self defense when Bayes went for the revolver he had taken from the pawn shop.

Deer Hunter Receives Scratches in Bout With Wounded Cougar

SALT LAKE CITY — Deer hunter Kirby Allen escaped with a scratched neck, torn coat and damaged gun stock when a wounded cougar jumped him.

Allen said he shot and wounded the big cat while hunting deer in the Wasatch mountains.

He stalked the cat for a short distance when it turned and tore into him, then fled.

"It was all over before I had a chance to get scared," said Allen.

A game warden advised him to leave wounded cougars alone.

Australian Relay Swim Team Tops US

MELBOURNE — Australia's powerful 800-meter freestyle relay team beat Uncle Sam's new swimmers out of today's only Olympic gold medal as American women advanced in the diving and swimming competition with brilliant performances in qualifying competition.

The American men finished second to the Aussies in the relay event with Russia third and picked up one point in the unofficial team standings.

At the close of the day, the United States still held the lead over Russia in the unofficial point standings, 468-419½ after a readjustment in the wrestling points but the Russians were gaining in the women's gymnastic events, where Russia was first and Hungary second after the first day's competition.

A trio of beautiful American girls, led by Mrs. Pat McCormick of Lakewood, Calif., a double champion in 1952, led the field in the women's springboard diving event.

Shelley Mann of Arlington, Va., broke the world's record with a one minute 11.2 seconds victory in a qualifying heat in the 100-meter butterfly event and two American girls, Carin Cone of Ridgewood, N. J., and Margaret Edwards of Portland, Ore., moved into the finals in the 100-meter backstroke event.

Australia's great men's relay team set a new world's record of 8:23.6, with the United States second in 8:31.5 and Russia clocked in 8:34.7. The Olympic mark was set by the U. S. in 1952 at 8:31.1.

The Aussies were in the lead at almost every check point in the relay. At the 100-meter mark they were about one foot ahead of the Americans with Russia and Japan bunched for third.

There was not a full length's difference at the end of the first leg between Kevin O'Halloran of Australia and Dick Hanley of Evanston, Ill. John Devitt of Australia moved away to a one-length lead over George Breen of Buffalo, N. Y., at the 300-meter mark and stretched it to two lengths at the 400-meter mark.

Murray Rose had opened up a 2½ length lead on Bill Woolsey of Oahu, Hawaii, at the end of the third leg and John Henricks then swam a fine anchor leg to give Australia three-length lead at the 700-meter mark and finally a four-length victory over Ford Konno of Honolulu, wh. swam the anchor leg for the United States. Konno was three lengths ahead of the Russian.

Hubbard Plays First Home Game Tuesday

The Hubbard High School basketball team plays its first game of the season against Green Ridge Tuesday night in Hubbard's redecorated gymnasium. The gym has a new lighting system, a new floor and is being repainted throughout. The seating capacity remains the same.

This will be the second game of the season for Hubbard, the first game being won by Warsaw. Hubbard's next home game will be on Dec. 11, against Lincoln, Mo.

Tuesday night both A and B games will be played, the first one beginning at 7:30.

The Falstaff team of Chicago, 1956 American Bowling Congress team, has signed Don Ellis of Houston, Tex. Ellis won the 1955 Petersen Classic with 1622.

FLASH IN THE PAN—Floorside spectators brace for the shock as Richie Guerin of the New York Knickerbockers heads for the sideline chasing a stray basketball in the game with Fort Wayne at Madison Square Garden. The bravest onlooker is the photographer who stands his ground to take the picture. The Knicks snapped a three-game losing streak.

'The Stilt' To Make His Debut Tonite

By MIKE RATHET
The Associated Press

Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, already dubbed "another Bill Russell," makes his long-awaited varsity debut tonight as Kansas kicks off its campaign to end San Francisco's two-year domination of the national college basketball championship.

With Russell and his sidekick K. C. Jones lost to San Francisco via graduation, Kansas is given an excellent chance of moving to the top.

Chamberlain, a 7-foot-1 center, is just the guy who can help. He set all sorts of high school records in Philadelphia, then continued the same pace as a freshman at Kansas last year.

Northwestern will furnish the Kansas opposition tonight.

Oregon States meets Colorado and Iowa invades Nebraska. The Beavers, overshadowed in the West by San Francisco, are considered a good bet for high ranking. Iowa, the Big Ten champ, shouldn't have too much trouble with the already twice-beaten Cornhuskers.

Kansas State's defending Big Seven champs clash with last year's Border Conference winners, Texas Tech, Houston faces Iowa State as it warms up for defense of the Missouri Valley Crown.

Ohio State, without high-scoring Robin Freeman, goes against Pitt's Panthers, who dropped a 97-45 decision to North Carolina State Saturday. Wisconsin meets Butler and, in a Southern Conference tilt, the Citadel visits William and Mary.

San Francisco won its second game of the year Saturday by defeating California 70-56. The victory was the Dons' second of the campaign and 57th in a row. Supposedly weakened by the loss of Russell and Jones, they nevertheless showed they're still to be reckoned with.

Other top-flight teams came through with victories Saturday as the 1956-57 season official opened. Louisville, National Invitation Tourney champions, beat Morehead 81-68 with the Cards' Charles Tyra scoring 29 points. Adolph Rupp's heralded Wildcats of Kentucky easily topped Washington & Lee 94-66.

Duquesne, without a potential All America in the class of the graduated Shugo Green, showed on adept offense in stopping Florida State 70-55. The St. Louis Billikins opened with a 91-73 victory over Cincinnati.

The longest winning streak in the National Hockey League is 14 games. It was set by the Boston Bruins during the 1929-30 season.

unbeaten Miami (Fla.) before college football moves into its final postseason phase.

Pitt, looking forward to a rematch of last year's 7-0 Sugar Bowl loss to Georgia Tech, need not worry about the once-tied Hurricanes in their nationally televised meeting.

Whatever happens, the Panthers are signed for a Dec. 29 date with Tech in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.

After a week postponement, the Atlantic Coast Conference chose its champion, Clemson, late yesterday to represent it against Colorado in the Orange Bowl.

That left the major bowl picture as follows:

Rose — Iowa (8-1) vs. Oregon State (7-2-1).

Sugar — Tennessee (10-0) vs. Baylor (8-2).

Cotton — Syracuse (7-1) vs. Texas Christian (7-3).

Orange — Colorado (7-2-1) vs. Clemson (7-1-2).

Gator — Georgia Tech (9-1) vs. Pittsburgh (6-2-1).

Pro Players Produce That 'Big Game'

By JIM KENSIL
The Associated Press

Pro football clutch players like Frank Gifford and Bobby Layne aren't paid by the yards they gain or the touchdowns they score. But when the National Football League moguls lay out the big salaries, they expect the "big play" and the "big game."

Yesterday was dividend day around the circuit as the key veterans, most of whom could afford to toil on a touchdown-yardage rate, paid off amply.

Layne, an eight-year veteran, passed for two touchdowns, scored another and kicked six extra points as he quarterbacked the Detroit Lions into first place in the Western Conference with a smashing 42-10 victory over the Chicago Bears.

Gifford, former movie stunt man, scored three times and threw for the other Giant touchdown as New York all but clinched the Eastern Conference title by whipping the Washington Redskins 28-14.

Elsewhere in the loop, here's what other old pros did:

Tibin Rote, the Green Bay signal caller, scored three times on short sneaks after his passes had rattled the Chicago Cardinals in a 24-20 upset victory. The loss at Chicago all but eliminated the Cards from the Eastern race.

Lou (The Toe) Groza, an all-time great, kicked a 37-yard field goal with just 29 seconds remaining at Cleveland to lift the Browns to a 17-14 triumph over the Philadelphia Eagles.

Capt. Elbie Nickel, with 33 years and 12 pro seasons behind him, steadied young Jack Scarbath in his first quarterback start, receiving two passes from Scarbath to lead the Pittsburgh Steelers in a 30-13 defeat of the visiting Los Angeles Rams.

A pair of 28-year-olds with a total of 13 years NFL experience did the job for the San Francisco 49ers at Baltimore 20-17. End Billy Wilson twice took scoring passes from quarterback Y. A. Title. The second was a 77-yard play in which Wilson hurdled two Baltimore tacklers and went on to score. The loss eliminated the Colts from the Western race.

The New Orleans Lawn Tennis Club is 80 years old.

SITTING OUT — Puck Van Duyn Brouwer, Dutch star, doesn't appear to feel too badly about flying all the way to Melbourne only to find out that she could not compete in the Olympics. Holland withdrew.

The Brooklyn Dodgers have drawn more than a million fans on the road every year since 1946. During that time they have drawn 17,692,221 while visiting other National League teams.

A total of 219,857 pheasant tags were sold in California in 1955.

Dinah Shore Has Heavy TV Schedule

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Nomination for the hardest working TV gal in Hollywood — Dinah Shore.

Oh, how this doll works! She does a quarter-hour songfest every week. And she's doing nine one-hour special shows on NBC as well. These are not termed spectaculars, but they might as well be. They are high-powered, all-star hours that have set a high standard for TV variety shows.

"Sometimes I think I must be crazy to undertake all this work," sighed Dinah in a rare moment of relaxation before last night's show.

Does her family ever see her? "Oh, yes," she replied. "I've got that pretty well organized. I don't leave home until 9:30 in the morning, and I'm home for dinner except on the week I'm doing the hour show."

"We manage to keep our family life much the same. The only thing I'm deprived of is special treats, like getting down to Palm Springs. We haven't been able to do that this year, nor have we done much entertaining."

Dinah admitted that her husband, George Montgomery, has indicated he'd like her to slow down the furious pace. Perhaps next year. She suspects NBC will drop her 15-minute show, since the networks are steering away from that kind of programming. But will she then be doing more hour shows?

"I just don't know," she said. "I'm too busy even to think about that."

US Turncoats Wish Return By Christmas

HONG KONG — Two more American turncoats from the Korean War, who decided they didn't want to live in Red China after all, hope to get back to their families by Christmas.

Arley Pate, 26, of Carbondale, Ill., and Aaron Wilson, 24, of Urania, La., reached this British crown colony yesterday after spending three years with the Chinese Communists.

"I went to China because I wanted peace," Pate told newsmen. "I didn't find it there, and will now go back to lead a peaceful life with my family."

Wilson nodded agreement. They were among 21 American war prisoners who decided to live in China after the Korean conflict ended in 1953. Four others returned ahead of Wilson and Pate, and one died in China.

The two latest arrivals said they knew of none among the 14 remaining with the Communists who might ask to leave.

Pate said he had "never informed on an attempted escape, never got better food while a prisoner, and never heard of the Suez

Student Nurses Bask In Sun at 70 Degrees

Balmy, sunshiny December weather with the temperature at 70 degrees prompted Miss Peggy Murray, 18, Sedalia, and Miss Darla White, Versailles, also 18, to don Bermuda shorts and spend a portion of the afternoon at Loose Park, Kansas City, in a suitable spot for a study period.

Both are student nurses at St. Luke's Hospital, Kansas City, and seemed to enjoy the warmth that reached a high of 70 breaking a previous record of 69 degrees recorded from that corresponding date Dec. 2, 1951.

Canal crisis or of uprisings in Hungary.

Both said they were only workers in China and heard no lectures on communism. Of communism, Pate said, "If people want it, they can have it."

They said three of those still in China had married Chinese girls in Tsinan: Albert C. Belhomme, Ashland, Pa.; Lowell D. Skinner, Akron, Ohio; and Howard G. Adams, Corsicana, Tex.

Pate said after his daily work in a Tsinan paper factory, "at night I ran around and went to dances and movies, having a good time."

American and British Red Cross officials said Pate and Wilson would be sent to the United States by the first available means. The Army gave all the turncoats honorable discharges in 1954, and the U. S. Supreme Court has ruled the Army no longer has jurisdiction over them.

Homemade Bomb Set Off During Show; Six Persons Injured

NEW YORK — A homemade bomb exploded with a burst of flame and smoke in a crowded Brooklyn movie theater last night during a showing of "War and Peace." Six persons were injured. Police said the bomb appeared to be the handiwork of the same "mad bomber" who has planted more than 25 other explosives in New York public places since 1940.

Last night's bomb was crudely fashioned of metal pipe, black powder, a small battery, watch parts and wiring. It exploded under a seat near the rear of the orchestra in the Paramount Theater.

About 1,500 patrons were viewing the battle-punctured film version of the Tolstoy novel at the time.

Metal fragments ripped across several rows of seats and cut persons. Three others suffered shock.

The picture resumed after a few minutes.

Early Treatment of Bone Disease Is Seen Essential

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Mrs. L. writes that her 10-year-old nephew has developed an infection of the bone which the doctors call osteomyelitis. For this reason she is anxious to learn more about it.

Osteomyelitis is a disease of the bone tissue which results from invasion of germs. These germs destroy the bone and produce pus. Historically, this is a disease which has been known for centuries. Signs of osteomyelitis have been found in bones of ancient man which have been buried for thousands of years.

Until recent times the treatment has been discouraging and difficult. Severe cases, even as late as the 16th century, were treated by amputation of the limb.

Other treatments involved the application of strange mixtures to the tissues around the infected bone, including herbs, powders from mummies, egg yolk and crushed body lice.

One of the most interesting forms of treatment has been the use of maggots. Maggots eat dead tissue, leaving live tissue in an area containing dead bone and other dead cells, they destroy the dead material and clean up the area without harming that part of the bone which is alive and healthy.

When they have completed their job they can be removed easily. This treatment is still used occasionally.

Modern surgery has done much for the patient with chronic osteomyelitis. It has become possible to clean out and scrape the infected bone, permitting healing. Ingenious instruments have been invented to aid in the work of boring into the bone and scraping out infected material.

Today, new methods of attack on osteomyelitis are available.

These are drugs of the sulfa group and substances obtained from molds or germs called antibiotics. Penicillin is the best known example. They have made it possible to save many people with osteomyelitis from months, or even years, of hospitalization and repeated surgery.

Chronic osteomyelitis can be a long-lasting and serious disease. It may produce unfavorable complications in the kidneys, or elsewhere. Our efforts should be directed to catching it early and using vigorous measures to bring it under control as soon as possible.

Two Churches Have Lowered Race Barriers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two large Protestant congregations, separated by hundreds of miles and varying traditions, have lowered racial barriers to permit integration in their churches -- one all white, the other all Negro.

In Minneapolis, the fashionable Hennepin Avenue Methodist Church opened its doors to members of a small Negro Methodist church which is to be torn down to make way for a redevelopment project.

And in the South, an all-Negro Baptist church in Louisville, Ky., has admitted 13 white persons to its congregations.

A delegation from the all-white, 4,000-member Methodist church in Minneapolis yesterday told members of Border Negro Methodist Church, "We invite you with sincere warmth." They said the Negroes need not decide immediately whether to accept.

Dr. Stanley Coors, Minnesota Methodist bishop, said the invitation was a "proposal of Christian love and fellowship."

The integration move in Louisville was believed to be the first by a Baptist church in Kentucky since slavery days.

The 13 white persons joined the Zion Baptist Church in the past month and the pastor, the Rev. D. E. King, said they "seem to be enjoying themselves."

Representing three families, the 13 became the first white members of the 1,522-member Negro congregation. The church is in a Negro-white neighborhood.

The Rev. Willard P. Macy, former pastor of an all-white church in Louisville and one of the 13 who joined Zion, said his association with the Negro church has been a "wonderful experience."

The Rev. Mr. King, the pastor, said his Negro members "have taken this as a normal thing."

Man Dies at Graveside

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A man died yesterday in a cemetery where he had gone to place flowers on his mother's grave.

A caretaker found the body of Harry E. McIlvain, 41, Pasadena, in Mountain View Cemetery. Authorities said he apparently had suffered a heart attack.

Senator Agrees To Stay in NATO As Ike Emissary

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today he has agreed to continue as President Eisenhower's personal representative to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

He said the job has been made more challenging by crises which, he said, nearly wrecked the Western defense alliance against communism.

George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, will end Jan. 3 a career of 34 years as a senator. He said he will shift then to a desk at the State Department.

Eisenhower named him to the NATO position, with an ambassador's rank, after George decided not to seek re-election.

There was an announced understanding that he would decide by the first of the year whether he felt his health and the prospect of making a worthwhile contribution would permit or justify his continuing in the post.

George, 78, told a reporter his answer to both questions is "yes." The task before him, George said, is to help plan ways "to get NATO back on the track, and develop it in economic and political fields."

Officials Order No Burning in 'Hell'

HELL, Calif. (AP)—Things are getting tough all over, it seems.

Witness this ruling by the Riverside County air pollution control district: There will be no burning in Hell without prior approval.

Hell is not much of a place... not even listed in the U. S. postal guide. But this desert community does have a service station and cafe and during a hearing on the matter of burning, the applicants disclosed their telephone number is Hell 1.

George said he believes crises in Suez and Cyprus and the explosive Hungarian situation have taught NATO member nations new lessons about the risks of trying to go it alone.
